FLOWER SHOW
AT NEWPORT

Second Annual Exhibit of Horticultural Society Arouses Much Interest.

Newport, R. I., June 27.—The second annual joint exhibit of the Newport Horticultural Society and the Newport Garden Association created considerable interest among the summer colony this week, for the garden association is made up entirely of summer residents, and they take a real active part in the show, which this year was held on land adjoining the estate of Senator George Peabody Wetmore.

There is also a large amount of interest being taken in another outdoor event that is soon to take place, a lawn fete on the grounds of Mrs. Lawrence L. Gillespie for the benefit of the Newport Historical Society. The women of the colony, as in the past, are always willing to lend a helping hand, and included among those who have already accepted invitations to be patronesses of the affair are Miss Mary Appleton, Mrs. Charles M. Bull, Mrs. A. B. Emmons, Mrs. Schuyler Van Rensselaer, Mrs. Eliza Dyer, Miss Martha A. Codman, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, Mrs. Joseph Harriman, Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James, Mrs. George Peabody Wetmore, Mrs. John Elliott, Mrs. I. Goodwin Hobbs, Mrs. John J. Mason, Mrs. Frederic Wilson, Mrs. Charles Warren Lippitt, Mrs. George L. Rives, Mrs. E. Livingston Ludlow, Mrs. Stuart Duncan, Mrs. French E. Chadwick, Mrs. Lewis Quentin Jones, Mrs. J. F. A. Clark, Mrs. Eugene Sturtevant, Mrs. James J. Brown, Mrs. Mabel Metcalf, Mrs. F. K. Sturgis, Mrs. Marauden J. Perry, Mrs. George Henry Warren, Mrs. Clarence Pull, Mrs. William E. Glyn, Mrs. Howland S. Graham, Mrs. William Watts Sherman, Mrs. Roderick Terry, Mrs. Harriet Brownell, Mrs. Charles H. Baldwin, Mrs. Robert Ives Gammell, Mrs. Charles L. F. Robinson, Mrs. George de Forest, Mrs. J. Fred Pierson, Mrs. E. Hayward Ferry, Mrs. Daniel B. Fearing, Mrs. Charles S. Whitman and Mrs. A. Winsor Weld.

The social colony has had engagements reports concerning two of the younger members to discuss during the last few days, though but one of the reports was authentic. The first to appear was that Miss Mimi Scott was to marry an Englishman whom she had met on the steamer crossing to Europe. Miss Scott lost no time in denying this rumor, and her friends here when they first heard the report could not believe it. The real engagement was that of Robert Grosvenor, son of Mrs. William Grosvenor, and Miss Mary Burnett, of Southboro, Mass.

At least one Ocean av. home will not be opened this summer, for it has been announced that Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Clark are not to open their cottage. They, however, will not give the city the go-by entirely, for it is expected that they will be the week-end guests of friends frequently. Mrs. George de Forest, after an absence of about twenty years, has again joined the summer visitors here and is now among those in the Gibbs av. section. It is quite well understood that Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Widener are to rejoin the Philadelphia colony next month, and Mr. and Mrs. Percy A. Rockefeller, from New York, will spend a portion of the summer at the cottage of James Stillman on Narragansett av.

There are also to be quite a few to return from Europe after extended trips. Mrs. William R. Hunter and daughter are already back, and Mr.

and Mrs. T. Shaw Safe, who have had their home opened, are expected the first week of July, while Mr. and Mrs. James Laurens Van Alen, who have not been here in four seasons and who are to occupy Wakehurst and not their own home, are expected about the middle of the month. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Fish Webster will be back here by the end of July, and Mrs. Harold Brown, who has been abroad for a couple of years, is reported as planning to return here in August.

Mrs. James F. D. Lanier is not to open her house, but instead will sail for Europe on July 11. Mrs. Lanier has been visiting Mrs. Howard G. Cushing here, but has since returned to New York.

Things are moving along very fast toward a full opening of the summer season here. There have been numerous arrivals during the week, and the week has also seen the first inclination toward social entertaining, though most of the affairs that have been given have been of an informal character.

Entertaining at the embassies has started, for Mme. Bakmeteff, wife of the Russian Ambassador, has given her first luncheon, and Daniel von Haimhausen, of the German Embassy, has given his first dinner of the season at the Poplars, which he is occupying again as the summer headquarters for the German diplomatic corps. Count J. H. von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, was here for the dinner, having been making a short stay at the Muenchinger King before going to Germany for the summer.

Several Weddings and Engagements in Last Week—Entertainments Given.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Dudley, of 123 Joralemon st., announce the engagement of their daughter, Dr. Helen Dudley, to Dr. Harry Gifford Bull, of Keesville, N. Y. Dr. Dudley was graduated from Cornell and Bellevue Medical College.

Announcement is also made of the engagement of Miss Louise Haggerty to Hayden Dudley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Dudley. Miss Haggerty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Haggerty, of Roland Park, Baltimore.

Miss Isabel Geraldine Winchell, daughter of Mrs. Grant R. Pitblado, last evening became the bride of James Hay Hawkins. The Rev. Dr. John Elmy Lloyd, of the Old Dutch Church, Flatbush, performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock at Mr. and Mrs. Pitblado's home, 601 Ocean av., which was decorated for the occasion with pink roses and smilax.

The bride was gowned in white charmeuse and princess lace and wore a tulle veil which fell from a little Dutch lace cap. She carried lilies-of-the-valley and white orchids. The maid of honor, Miss Lee Werner, wore a gown of pink charmeuse trimmed with cream lace, and carried pink and white lace frock and pink sash, acted as flower girl, in company with Master Harold Pitblado as page. A large church wedding Tuesday evening was that of Miss Anna Sherman Knapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Knapp, of 405 Hancock st., and Charles F. Walden, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Walden, of 284 Jefferson av. The Bedford Presbyterian Church was the scene of the ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents. Arches of smilax and pink blossoms were placed at intervals along the length of the centre aisle, and at the house there were decorations of peonies and roses. The Rev. Dr. W. C. P. Rhoades officiated.

The bride wore a gown of cream crepe meteeor and Venetian point and the Chantilly lace veil which had been worn by her mother when a bride. She carried a sheaf bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and sweetpeas. Miss Katherine Kelly was her sister's only attendant. George McDermott was the best man.

The bride was graduated from carried bride roses and lilies-of-the-valley. She was attended by a maid of honor, Miss Evelyn Thompson, and six bridesmaids—Miss Ruth Forman, Miss Dorothy Parkhurst, of Manhattan; Miss Jessie Cozier, Miss Eleanor Walden, Miss Mabel Bach and Miss Laura Haggard.

The best man was Harold Dyke, of Syracuse, and in attendance as ushers were Richard Seefeld, George Knapp, Donald Walden, Edwin Morrow, George Davidson and Walter Bach.

Miss Matilda Graydon Moore, daughter of Mrs. William F. Moore, and former Mayor William F. Moore, was married to Edward Koehn Junghans, Tuesday afternoon in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Flatbush. The Rev. Dr. Townsend Glover Jackson performed the ceremony.

The bride, who wore a travelling gown of blue taffeta, was given away by her brother, W. E. Wilmerding Moore. Mr. Junghans, who is a son of Mrs. Victor F. C. Junghans, of St. Croix, had as best man, Theodore Class, of Westfield, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Junghans are to make their home in Porto Rico.

Miss Kate Vail Barnum, who spent June at the Garden City Hotel, gave a luncheon of twenty covers and bridge there Monday. Her guests were Mrs. Henry Rogers Mallory, Mrs. Eugene L.

Maxwell, Mrs. Eugene Lenthion, Mrs. T. Lawrence, Mrs. George W. Chauncey, Mrs. Sturgis Coffin, Mrs. Joseph R. Guernsey, Mrs. Camden C. Dike, Mrs. Joseph Seaman, Mrs. George C. Clausen, Mrs. Henry Richardson, Mrs. Donald Grant Gedes, Mrs. Charles A. Moore, Mrs. William Van Anden, Mrs. Horatio M. Adams, Miss Royce, Mrs. Kent and Mrs. Frederick Gunther.

The engagement of Miss Helen Louise Frew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frew, of Hempstead, Long Island, and Ralph Peters, Jr., was announced recently. Mr. Peters was graduated from Princeton in 1908.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Walton Vail, Miss Katherine Vail and Clarence Vail, Jr., will sail Wednesday on the Frederick VII. They will spend two months in a tour of Norway and Sweden and divide the remainder of their time between Paris and London.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Berri are to spend the summer at Allenhurst, N. J., where they have taken one of the cottages of the Allenhurst Club.

There has been much activity at the nearby country clubs the last week. Wednesday evening and last evening there were dances at the Marine and Field Club, which drew large gatherings. Yesterday there was a bridge under the management of Mrs. Samuel A. Bixby.

Down at the Atlantic Yacht Club in Sea Gate there have been dancing competitions the last two evenings which have aroused great enthusiasm. J. Stuart Blackton furnished last week's prizes. The committee also includes Edgar F. Luckenbach, Lyman A. Spalding, George C. Boldt, Jr., S. Edward Vernon and John H. Zell.

Lenox, Mass., June 27.—That Lenox and Stockbridge owners of large estates are fond of horticulture and landscape architecture was shown this week in the entertainment given by Mr. and Mrs. Banyer Clarkson in their new Italian garden at Riverside, in Tyringham, and at Stockbridge, where the cottagers gave a beautiful two days' exhibition of garden flowers in the Casino. At Tyringham the formal garden was on view; in Stockbridge the products of the natural old-fashioned garden were shown, each having a following that was enthusiastic.

Perennials were the dominant notes in the Stockbridge flower show. Last year the show came in July, when annuals had their day. To vary the show each year is the intention of the Stockbridge colony, who do not allow the element of professionalism to enter their show. All the Stockbridge growers are women. They show the actual products of their hands and care. Thus the Stockbridge show has an intimate distinction that the Lenox show has not. This year the judges were members of the Lenox Garden Club—Miss Charlotte Barnes, of Cold Brook; Thomas Shields Clarke, of Fernbrook, and Mrs. Clarkson, of Riverside.

Mrs. Herbert Parsons has built a log cabin in the Stoneover woods, under Bald Mountain, one of the wild spots in Berkshire, where she will do her literary work.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Spoor will entertain the Lenox Garden Club on July 6 at Blythewood, in Pittsfield. Mrs. Philip Martineau, of London, will speak on "Old English Gardens."

Miss Symphora Bristed, Miss Anita Delafield, Miss Irene Turnure and Samuel Frothingham, Jr., are the committee to prepare the water sports for the Fourth of July at Lake Mahkencac. After the races Mrs. Bristed will give a dance in the bathhouse.

Several interesting dinners were given this week. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Choate entertained on the occasion of the birthday of Mrs. Choate. Mr. and Mrs. George Evans Turnure gave a neighbors' dinner, having nearby residents as their guests. Mr. and Mrs. Newbold Morris entertained for their guest, Henry Coleman Drayton. Mr. and Mrs. Giraud Foster and Miss Anna E. Shaw also gave dinners. In Stockbridge, Dr. and Mrs. W. Gilman Thompson entertained in honor of President Jacob G. Schurman of Cornell University.

The Wyantuck Country Club, of Great Barrington, will give a dance at the clubhouse on the night of July 3, opening the series.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Crowninshield gave a studio tea this week at Konkapot, entertaining the Stockbridge cottagers. Mr. Crowninshield showed twenty water colors done last winter at Taormina, Sicily.

Cottage arrivals this week were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hollister Pease, at the Orchard; Mr. and Mrs. Carlos de Heredia, at the Wheatleigh, and the Misses Shoter, at the Shadowbrook. In Pittsfield Mrs. H. Le Roy Jones arrived at the Wicks and Mrs. Kingsland Bradford at the Wilson villa.

GOLF AND TENNIS
AT NARRAGANSETT

At the Point Judith Club Both
Sports Continue Popular
Among Cottagers.

Narragansett Pier, R. I., June 27.—At the Point Judith Country Club the outdoor sports of golf and tennis continue to be popular diversions for the cottagers, followed by afternoon tea on the lawn at the Wildfield Farm, with parties assembled here and there on the veranda of the clubhouse.

Both the tennis courts and the golf links are in fine condition for the players, and almost every afternoon are the scenes of rival practice matches participated in by members of the villa colony.

Among the early golfers at the Pier are Dr. Charles Hitchcock, Newbold Edgar, Stuart Davis and Willard P. Ward, of New York; the Rev. Philip M. Prescott and Miss Prescott, of Washington; J. R. Hinchliffe and Dr. F. E. Burke, of Wakefield, R. I.

On the Point Judith tennis courts were noted recently Miss Emily Ran-
